Wukong, Tiangong, Tianwen... Do you know where the names of Chinese space programs come from?

Wukong, the Dark Matter Particle Explorer satellite (暗物质粒子探测卫星), is named after Chinese superhero Monkey King. According to Journey to the West, Monkey King has a pair of sharp eyes which can tell the difference between good and evil(邪恶). The Wukong satellite is just as sharp-eyed as Monkey King to help scientists search for dark matter in space.

The name of the space station, Tiangong, means “Heavenly Palace”. In Chinese myths, this is the home of Tian Di. Now Tiangong Space Station is a home for Chinese astronauts in space. And China welcomes foreign astronauts to Tiangong so that they can work together.

Tianwen, China’s Mars missions (任务), gets its name from the poem Tianwen by Qu Yuan. Qu Yuan is a well-known poet from ancient China. In Tianwen, he had the questions about the sky, stars, nature, myths and the real world, showing his hunger for truth. Perhaps the Tianwen missions will end up answering some of Qu Yuan’s questions.

If you look into more names of Chinese space programs, you will find that they all have beautiful meanings. We, the Chinese people, have a long-cherished (珍藏已久的) space dream. So the naming of Chinese space programs is taken very seriously.

71. What is the Wukong satellite used for?

- A. Answering some of Qu Yuan’s questions.
- B. Helping scientists search for dark matter in space.
- C. Welcoming foreign astronauts to the space station.

72. What does the underlined word “myths” in Paragraph 3 mean?

- A. Poems.
- B. Fairy tales.
- C. Hoaxes.

73. Where is the name of China’s Mars missions from?

- A. Qu Yuan’s poem Tianwen.
- B. Ancient Chinese myths.
- C. Journey to the West

74. Why do we take the naming of Chinese space programs seriously?

- A. We want to land on Mars.
- B. We have the hunger for truth.
- C. We have a dream for space.

75. Which can be the best title for the passage?

- A. What Beautiful Names
- B. What Excellent Poems
- C. What a Long Journey

Can you imagine an AI chatbot(聊天机器人) competing with you in an examination? Do you think you could get higher scores than it? A new AI chatbot called ChatGPT recently passed a law school exam! Sounds crazy? 1 _____

ChatGPT was developed by US company Open AI. 2 _____ You can ask it to write stories and emails, translate languages, and answer all kinds of questions. According to a US survey of more than 1000 students, over 89 percent of them have used ChatGPT to help with homework. 3 _____ For example, New York City public schools don't allow students and teachers to use ChatGPT on the district's networks and devices(设备).

The measure(措施) comes out of worries that the tool could make it easier for students to cheat on homework. 4 _____

"It does not develop thinking quality and problem-solving skills, which are necessary for studying and lifelong success,” said Jenna Lyle. Apart from bans(禁令), teachers are making changes to their classes to prevent the use of ChatGPT. Some college teachers in the US try to include more speaking exams and handwritten papers instead of typed ones.

5 Some Canadian universities are making rules on its use, for both students and teachers. They have no plans to completely ban the tool so far. Some people said that bans on AI software like ChatGPT are not wise. “We have to know that AI is a tool people will use,” What we need to do is “change our learning, teaching and examinations”. In that way we can “have integrity(诚信) while recognizing the use of the tool”.

| A. It is a powerful tool. B. So it is very popular among students. C. However, not all educators say “no” to ChatGPT. D. Some schools in the US do not allow students to use it. E. The use of ChatGPT has raised heated discussions in the education world. F. Some also worry that ChatGPT could be used to spread incorrect information. |

B. 完成图表 根据短文内容，完成图表中所缺信息。(共 5 小题;每小题 1 分，计 5 分)

Cars powered by gasoline(汽油) were sold for many years before cars that use electricity. Car companies are now making cars that are fully powered by electricity only. How do these electric cars measure up to traditional gasoline cars?

Electric and gasoline cars look similar on the outside. They have very different parts under their hoods(引擎盖), though. Electric cars have one main moving part: the motor. But gasoline cars have hundreds of parts, often requiring frequent maintenance (保养). Having fewer parts makes the electric car cheaper to maintain and less likely to have mechanical(机械的) problems.

Electric cars are energy efficient(高效的), also making them cheaper to operate. It costs about $ 1.00 to travel 43 miles in an electric car. But it costs about $ 1.25 to go 18 miles in a gasoline car. Basically, an electric car can go twice as far as a gas car for the same price.

Electric cars do not have tailpipe emissions(尾气排放), making them more friendly to the environment, too.

While some details make electric cars seem attractive, other details aren't as favourable. For example, some electric cars can travel only 60 to 120 miles on a full charge(充电). Most gas cars can drive hundreds of miles on a full tank(油箱).

There are certainly advantages to both electric cars and gasoline cars. It's good to know that there is a choice.

Electric Cars VS Gasoline Cars
Introduction	With the appearance of electric cars, people wonder whether electric cars can achieve the same standards as gasoline cars.
6	Electric cars and gasoline cars look similar on the outside.
Differences	Electric cars: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ Having fewer parts reduces the cost of their maintenance and the 7 of having mechanical problems. ➤ 8 with gasoline cars, electric cars are more energy saving, making them cheaper to operate. ➤ Having no tailpipe emissions, they are more environmentally 9. Gasoline cars: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ➤ Gas cars can cover a 10 distance on a full tank than electric cars on a full charge.
Conclusion	Both electric cars and gasoline cars have their own advantages, which provides people with a choice.

How to Deal With FOMO in Your Life

Nowadays, students are afraid of missing out about what's happening around, so they can't help looking through the social media every day.

Stress from studying is the main reason. Sometimes we are short of love. We also rely heavily on social media.

How to deal with FOMO? Here's some advice. Firstly, we can join some school clubs. Secondly, we can ask teachers or classmates for help. Thirdly, try to communicate more with family members. Reading more paper books and doing sports can also be helpful.

Say NO to FOMO, be a better man!
