C

Edwin, 12, loves going to school because there are always some new things to learn. Today, he goes to school happily. However, he comes back home late and he doesn't look happy. His mother is very surprised and asks him, "What's the matter, son?"

"I am thinking about my science homework."

"What is it?"

"In my science class, Miss Green, our science teacher, tells us something about Earth Day and our environment (环境). She wants us to think of some ideas to help the earth. But I am only a student. I don't know what I can do and how I can do it."

"Don't worry, son. Just think it over, as a student, what can you do to help with our environment in our city? You can't do big things now. But can you do some small things?"

"Of course, I can." Edwin answers.

Edwin's mother says, "To help the earth, you can help clean the leaves on the city streets. You can write something about Earth Day for newspapers and magazines to tell more people about it. You can also work as a volunteer on Earth Day."

"Great! Thanks, mom. Now I know what I can do." Edwin says excitedly.

Sometimes we think we are too young, so we can't do big things, but we can begin with small things, which can also be helpful.

D

Do you know 24 solar terms (节气)? Do you know Guyu or Grain Rain? It is the sixth solar term according to the traditional Chinese lunar calendar. It usually arrives around April 19th-21st. This year, it is on April 20. The Grain Rain means the end of cold and a start of warmth. The name comes from the old saying, "Rain brings up the growth of hundreds of gains". It shows that rain is important for grains.

In southern China, people usually drink tea on the day of Grain Rain. Spring tea during Grain Rain is good for our health. Drinking tea on this day is also said to prevent (预防) bad luck.

People in northern China often eat Chinese toon, a kind of vegetable during Grain Rain. An old Chinese saying goes "Chinese toon before the rain is as gentle as silk." People say it's good for the stomach and skin.

Fishing villages across the northern China celebrate (庆祝) the Grain Rain festival. Grain Rain is the start of the fishermen's first fishing trip of the year. It dates back more than 2,000 years ago. At that time people believed the gods can protect them from the bad weather on the sea. People always put out the fruit and desserts, wishing a safe trip for their loved ones on that day.

①Cars make our lives really convenient. But they can also be a problem because fossil fuel (化石燃料) cars will cause air pollution. To save the environment, many countries are making electric vehicles (EVs, 电动车). Among them, China is taking a leading role and building the world's largest EV market. In 2016, 40% of the 753, 000 EVs are sold (售出) in China. Only 14, 000 EVs are sold in the United States. In other words, EVs are really popular in China now.

②“Charging (充电) an electric car is cheaper than using a fossil fuel car with gas. I can save much money,” says Wu Hao, who buys an electric car this year.

③▲ It is difficult to find charging stations and the cars can't go far before needing to be recharged. EVs don't make much noise. This means that some people can't hear them when they go by. They may not think a car is coming, so they have to be careful.

④Luckily, Chinese people are thinking about some ways to help. In 2014, China had 31, 000 charging stations, according to Xinhua. Now China has more than 167, 000 charging stations in total.

⑤People are finding ways to make electric cars better all the time. Maybe one day all cars will be electric. That will be much better for the world.

56. According to the passage, about _____ EVs are sold in China in 2016.

- A. 40                      B. 150,600                      C. 301,200                      D. 753,000

VI. 任务型阅读。(65—67 小题, 每小题 2 分; 68 小题 3 分, 共 9 分)

阅读下列短文, 根据短文内容完成下列各题。

Jiang Mengnan is healthy when she is born. Unluckily, things changed when she is only a six-month-old baby—she loses her hearing after she is given the wrong medicine(药).

Mengnan's parents are really sad. They go to doctors for help, but the doctors say Mengnan can't hear again any more. "I don't want her to live her life like that," Mengnan's dad said. "We will never give up on her."

The family start trying everything they could to help Mengnan. Finally, with her parents' help, Mengnan starts learning to read lips (嘴唇) and pronounce words. She sits in front of a mirror with her parents every day, watches their mouths move, feels how their throats vibrated(振动) when they speak, and then tries to say the same words as they do. "If I could say a word right with 10,000 practices," she tells CCTV, "My parents would be happy."

It is not easy for Mengnan, but she keeps practicing, day in and day out. Finally, she can "hear" everything said to her. Then she goes to school and learns by reading the teachers' lips. Now, Mengnan's life is on the right track. She is a student of Tsinghua University. She thinks that she is no different than anybody else.

She lives her life the way most of us can only dream about.
