B

Once there were two neighbours. One of them was an old teacher and the other was an office worker. Both of them planted the same plants in their gardens. The old teacher gave a little water to his plants every day and didn't always care for them, while his neighbour gave much water to his plants and looked after them well.

The old teacher's plants were simple but looked good. The office worker's plants were much taller and greener. One night, there was a heavy rain. The next morning, the office worker saw his plants were uprooted (连根拔起), but the old teacher's plants stood firmly (坚固地).

The neighbour was surprised and went to the old teacher and asked, "We both grew the same plants together. I looked after my plants better than you did, and I even gave them more water. However, my plants were uprooted, while yours weren't. Why?"

The old teacher smiled and said, "You gave your plants more water, so they didn't need to work for it. I gave them a little water, so their roots grew deeper to get more water. It made them stronger."

- () 54. What happened to the office worker's plants after a heavy rain?
 A. They stood firmly. B. They looked good.
 C. They were uprooted. D. They became greener.
- () 55. How did the old teacher plant his plants?
 A. In a smart way. B. In a quick way. C. In a stupid way. D. In a difficult way.
- () 56. What can we infer (推断) from the text?
 A. The old teacher didn't like gardening. B. The old teacher was very good at planting.
 C. The office worker was the old teacher's student before.
 D. The office worker's plants were different from the old teacher's.
- () 57. What does the text mainly tell us?
 A. Growing plants is not so easy as it looks.
 B. Too much care might make plants become weak.
 C. A heavy rain can make the plants in the garden die.
 D. Plants know how to look after themselves in the heavy rain.

My neighbour Mrs. Gargan first told me about it. "Have you seen the tree?" she asked while I was sitting in the backyard, enjoying the sunset. "The one down at the corner," she explained, "It's a beautiful tree — all kinds of colours. You should see it."

I told her I would, but I soon forgot about the tree. Three days later, I was running down the street, my mind swimming with worries, when a colour of bright orange caught my eyes. For a moment, I thought someone's house had caught fire. Then I remembered the tree.

As I got close to it, I slowed to a walk. There was nothing special about the shape of the tree. It was a medium-sized maple. But Mrs. Gargan was right about its colours. The tree blazed (闪耀) with a bright red on its lower branches (树枝), burned (燃烧) with yellows and oranges in its centre and turned into deep red at its top. I was surprised at its beauty.

Its beauty will last only a week, so it should be especially precious to us. But I had almost missed it. I was so excited that I couldn't wait to tell everyone its beauty. As I walked home, I did ask each neighbour the same, simple but important question that Mrs. Gargan had asked me, "Have you seen the tree?"

- () 62. What did Mrs. Gargan ask the writer to do?
A. To watch the sunset. B. To see a beautiful tree.
C. To run down the street. D. To pass on the question.
- () 63. What does the writer mainly describe about the maple in Paragraph 3?
A. Its size. B. Its shape. C. Its colours. D. Its height.
- () 64. What does the underlined (画线) word "precious" probably mean?
A. 感动的 B. 珍贵的 C. 奇怪的 D. 有益的
- () 65. What did the writer do after enjoying the beautiful tree?
A. He took photos of the tree. B. He wrote a passage about its beauty.
C. He came to watch the tree every day. D. He asked his neighbours to enjoy its beauty.

IX. 任务型阅读。(共5小题,每小题2分,满分10分)

阅读短文,并按要求完成66~70题。

Rock climbing didn't become a sport until late in the 1900s. But now it has become a popular outdoor activity. While rock climbing may still be necessary for mountain climbing, most people just climb low mountains for fun.

If you have ever done rock climbing, you will know that it is not a very easy sport. Indoor and outdoor rock climbing both need practice. It is one of the sports that depend on (依赖) both your body and mind. That is to say you need to be strong enough and have courage (勇气).

To climb successfully, you should know about some skills. The most important one is to always have three parts of your body on the rock face. Another important skill is that your arms must hold you close to the rock face while your legs are pushing you up. The closer you are to the rock face, the easier it is to climb.

Rock climbing is a wonderful sport. Once you start to learn how to climb, you will find more fun. If you like games such as chess playing, you may also love rock climbing. Because they are nearly the same in the way of thinking. For anyone who wants to get into beautiful shape, rock climbing is a fun and good way. Anyone who enjoys difficult games and loves the outdoors should think of taking rock climbing as a new hobby (爱好).
