I'm Helen. I was born sixty-eight years ago in a small village. Traveling used to be a big problem. When we traveled from village to village, we used to walk or ride bicycles. There was no supermarket in the village. We used to grow most of our own food. We kept things fresh in a special underground room. We didn't have any televisions. We used to listen to our folk music and enjoy it very much. Life used to be very hard, so I would like you to know about the old days and be happy with what you have now.
