“Wow!” said Susan.“I have finished my homework and I'm going to paint a picture of our stairs(楼梯). It's for a competition in school tomorrow.”

“Do you need any help?” her father asked. “It's almost time for bed.”

“I'll be quick,” said Susan. “I wonder what color to use.”

“Well, our stairs are brown.” said her father. “Thanks, Dad.” said Susan.

When she finished her picture, Susan began playing with her brush which was still wet. Suddenly, She dropped the brush right on the picture! There in the middle of her picture was a blob(污点) of brown paint!

“Oh, Dad! What will I do?” Susan cried. “My picture is ruined. And it's too late to paint another.”

“Let me see,” said her father. “The blob looks just like a spot on a dog. All you have to do is to draw a dog around the spot!”

“That’s a wonderful idea!” cried Susan. She drew a dog around the blob of brown paint. “That looks just fine. You know, few things are as bad as they are seen at first. With a little imagination you can turn bad into good.” said Susan’s father.

The next day Susan went to school early. When the competition began, Mr. King said, “I’ve chosen three pictures, and I want you to say which one you like best.” The children did not like the first one. The next picture was on black paper, but the stairs were red. So it was not so good. Then Mr. King showed the third painting. It was Susan’s!

“The stairs are straight.” said Joe.

“Yes, and the brown paint shows up well on the white paper.” said Lucy.

“The little dog seems to belong there.” said Terry.

The children voted(投票) and Susan’s painting won.

“Susan had a good idea,” Mr. King said. “That little dog finished a good painting. It made the stairs seem real.”

Susan smiled. She could hardly wait to tell her father the news. He was right. With a little imagination you can turn something bad into something good!

39. When did Susan paint her picture?

- A. At afternoon. B. In the morning. C. At night.

40. What happened when Susan finished her picture?

- A. She dropped the wet brush on the picture. B. She began playing with her dog.
C. She drew a blob in the brown paint.

41. The underlined word “ruined” is similar to _____.

- A. lost B. broken C. stolen

42. What did Mr. King say about Susan’s picture?

- A. The little dog made the stairs seem real. B. The brown paint showed up well.
C. The little dog seemed to belong there.

43. What can we learn from the passage?

- A. Fathers always love their children. B. Most things are as bad as they are seen.
C. We can turn bad into good with imagination.

In August, 2021, some new rules came out to restrict young people’s online game time. 44 Online game providers can offer only one-hour service to young people from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays, Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays. 45

Zhang Zhe, a high school teacher in Nanjing, thinks online games influence students’ studies a lot. At home, parents often find it hard to stop their children from playing them. 46 “Students who become seriously addicted(上瘾的) to online games often find all kinds of excuses to play them. They also spend little on food or clothes to save their money for online games. So I think it is really necessary for the government to take action.” said Wu Li, a teacher in Wuhan.

Mrs Wang, a mother of a high school student in Shanghai, used to have difficulty keeping her son away from online games, so she felt really glad when the new rules came out. “Whenever I tried to stop him, he got really angry. 47” said Mrs Wang.

48 To make sure that students develop healthier lifestyle(生活方式), schools, teachers and parents need to work closely to help young students find proper hobbies, and hold different after-school activities for them.

- A. Thanks to the rules, students can have more time to take up new hobbies.
B. For several months, he even refused to talk to me.
C. People under the age of 18 can only play online games three hours a week.
D. They are very popular with teachers and parents.
E. What’s worse, students might have no interest in developing friendship.

In China, more and more people have realized the seriousness of climate change. Many young people have been living a low-carbon(低碳) life.

Zheng Xiyu is one of them. She has been trying to reduce her carbon footprint. Every morning, she takes a bus to her office and it takes her about 40 minutes. But Zheng has been thinking of changing this. She wants to try a different means of transport-cycling. Riding a bicycle to work, the lady says, takes about the same amount of time as taking a bus. “However, it’s better for the environment and my health.” she says.

Professor Li Lin has also been leading a low-carbon lifestyle. Her office uses energy-saving lights. These lights go off themselves when they are not needed. This has saved a large amount of electricity. Another way to save energy is to double-print the paper. Professor Li says small actions like these are important for protecting the environment. “Let’s say you have saved one ton of paper. That’s about two and a half tons of CO₂.” Professor Li says.

Lin Hui always chooses products with a longer life when he shops. He says this helps to reduce waste. Two years ago, Lin and his friends set up an environment website, where he wanted to give some advice on saving energy and protecting the environment.

It’s easy to change to a low-carbon lifestyle. Everybody can do this and make a difference.

In China, more and more people have realized climate change is becoming 49. Zheng Xiyu prefers 50 to taking a bus to reduce her carbon footprint. Professor Li Lin says doing 51 things is important for protecting the environment. Lin and his friends set up an environment website to give some 52 on saving energy and protecting the environment. It is not 53 for everyone to change to a low-carbon lifestyle if he or she takes action.

The World Cup is an international football competition that takes place every four years.

The first World Cup event was held in 1930 and it has only been cancelled twice in the history of the competition – in 1942 and 1946, because of the Second World War. The World Cup can take place anywhere in the world. In 2018 the host country was Russia, in 2014 it was Brazil, in 2010 it was South Africa, and this year, in 2022, the host country is the State of Qatar. It is the first time that a country in the Middle East is hosting the World Cup and only the second time that a country in Asia is hosting the competition.

While the World Cup usually takes place in the months of June and July. It is incredibly hot in Qatar during the summer months, and so the competition will take place in November and December this year.

There are 32 national teams participating. These teams were determined through qualifying matches. There will be a total of 64 matches played over the 28-day World Cup. These will take place in eight stadiums across the State of Qatar. The opening match will be played at AlBayt Stadium on the 20th of November between Qatar and Ecuador after the opening ceremony.

The Stadiums

There are eight stadiums that will be used for the 2022 Men's World Cup. Each reflects an aspect of life in Qatar.

Ahmed Bin Ali Stadium is made up of patterns that incorporate symbols of Qatari culture including the importance of family, the beauty of the desert as well as the local plants and animals.

Khalifa International Stadium was built in 1976 and has undergone some updates and changes for the World Cup. It has a more modern shape and two arches that represent both progress and the welcoming fans from all over the world.

Lusail stadium was inspired by the lights and shadows created by the fanar lantern. The shapes on the exterior of the stadium are similar to the decoration found on bowls and art found across the Islamic world.

Stadium 974's design was inspired by Qatar's maritime and trade history. 974 is the international dialling code for Qatar and the number of shipping containers used in the construction of Stadium are 974.

The stadiums

Al Bayt Stadium is named after the bayt al sha'ar – the traditional bedouin tents used by the nomadic people in Qatar and other Middle Eastern countries. The design honours both the past and the present of Qatar and will host the opening match of the 2022 Men's World Cup.

Al Janoub Stadium is built in one of Qatar's oldest continuously inhabited areas—Al Wakrah, which was the heart of the pearl diving and fishing communities. The stadium design was inspired by the traditional dhow boats used for pearl diving and fishing.

Al Thumama Stadium is inspired by the traditional woven cap worn by men and boys called the ghafiya. It is seen as a symbol of dignity.

Education City Stadium was built with Islamic architecture in mind. The exterior of the structure has the design of triangles which form jagged diamond patterns. These appear to change colour as the sun moves across the sky.

54. How often does the FIFA World Cup take place?
55. Please translate the underlined sentence into Chinese.
56. How many stadiums across the State of Qatar are mentioned in total? Give at least two examples.
57. Why does the competition take place in November and December in 2022?
58. Which stadium represents both progress and the welcoming fans from all over the world?
59. Do you like watching the World Cup? What do you think of the competition?

八、词语运用（每空 1 分，共 20 分）

A. 请阅读下面短文，根据短文内容，在空白处填入恰当的单词，使短文通顺、连贯。每空一词。

Have you ever taken the Tiangong Class? China's first live space lecture (讲座) was given by Wang Yaping in 2013 and the 60 one was given by Shenzhou-13 crew members Zhai Zhigang, Wang Yaping and YeGuangfu on December 9, 2021. If you took both 61 the two class, you may find the differences.

More space to teach: The lecture in 2013 was given in Tiangong-1 experimental module. This time the lecture was given in the core module (核心舱) of China's space station, Tianhe. It is the biggest spacecraft (宇宙飞船) developed 62 China. Successfully sending Tianhe 63 space means that the building of China's space station has entered a new stage.

Technological development: The space lecture 64 was given in 2013 faced many challenges, such 65 an unclear picture, but this time the lecture was different. The transmission (传输) speed had been highly increased and the whole live broadcast ran smoothly. These changes which were brought about by technological development show that Chinese aerospace industry (航空航天工业) has made a great progress in the 66 several years.

More to teach: In 2013 Wang showed students the laws of physics and focused on the interesting things that happen 67 of no gravity (重力) in space. But this time biology was added. The astronauts compared the growth and shape of cells in different environments to study their changing rules. 68 these space lectures show different topics, the purpose behind them has never changed, that is, to spread knowledge about manned spaceflights and make young people more interested 69 science.

B. 请你根据语篇内容，用方框中所给词的适当形式填空，使短文通顺、连贯，并将答案写在答题卡的相应位置，方框中有两个词为多余项。

Because of the COVID-19, students had to have online classes at home. There are some 70 that keep us from paying full attention to study. The 71 problem is that we are more easily attracted by the things around us. So it's 72 for us to keep those things out of reach during class. The second problem is that some students may feel 73 when they are at home. My suggestion is that you can keep in touch 74 your friends and teachers. For example, our teachers set 75 a "Class Moments (班级朋友圈)". This allows you 76 different feelings and views with our classmates. What's more, you may have problems 77 our study time. To solve this problem, you should make plans and set daily and 78 goals. Then you should stick to them. This can help you have a clear goal and achieve the best results. If you follow these 79 above, you will improve your online studies. I hope that we will be allowed to go back to school quickly.
