Do you get angry when your friends sing loudly while you are trying to work or when your best friend does not wait for you after school?

If you do, you need to take control (控制) of your feelings and stop getting angry so easily.Getting angry easily can make you lose friends.

Gary Egeberg, an American high school teacher, has written My Feelings Are Just Like Wild Animals to help you control your feelings. It tells teens how to stay cool when bad things happen. The book says that getting angry only makes problems worse. It cannot make them better."Getting angry is not a natural way to act," the book says.It is just a bad habit, like smoking. The book says you can control your anger easily, and all you have to do is to tell yourself not to be angry.

When a baby falls over,it cries only when people are watching it. Like a baby you can only get angry if you are sure it is the right thing to do.

The book gives many suggestions to help you if you get angry easily. Here are the top three.

Keep a record(记录). Every time you get angry, write down why you are angry.Look at it later and you will see you get angry too easily.

Ask your friends to stop talking to you when you get angry.This will teach you not to be angry.

Do something different. When you get angry, walk away from the problem and go somewhere else.Try to laugh.

①Have you ever shaken on a cold day? You may not have noticed, but as you shake, your body warms up. Shaking is one way your body stays warm. It happens when messages are sent from the nervous system (神经系统) to the muscles(肌肉). This is how it works.

②The nervous system has two parts. One part is the nerves. They look like long, thin lines. Their job is to carry messages to all parts of the body.The spinal cord(脊髓) and the brain make up the other part of the nervous system. Messages from the brain travel down the spinal cord. They go to the rest of the body through the nerves. Muscles receive these messages.

③Imagine waiting for a bus on a street corner.It’s a cold day , the bus is late,and you feel cold. Here 's what happens.

④A control center in your brain senses that you re cold.It transmits a message down the spinal cord to all the nerves. The message races through nerves that connect to other nerves.Then it goes from the nerves to the muscles. The message says, "Warning! Prepare for action!"

⑤When a muscle moves, it makes heat. That is why you get warm when you run or play soccer. When your muscles get the message that you are cold, they get busy. First they tighten (收缩) , then they loosen(松) . They tighten then loosen over and over again.This makes you shake.You also get warmer.
