Now, here's a plan about our school trip. We'll spend the first four days in New York.

We'll visit the city and some famous places like the Statue of Liberty (自由女神像). We will go there by train. We won't go by bus because the journey is too long and we won't have enough time to do everything. There will be 80 students on the trip. We will travel in three groups, and there will be teachers in each group. I will join Group One. I hope that everyone on the trip will have a good time, but please remember that it is an educational (教育性的) visit, not a holiday. There will be some time for swimming and other sports, but we are going to America to study the American culture. We should speak English as much as possible.

In some Western countries, many children do chores to get pocket money. They usually start to do this when they are ten years old.

School students have to do homework and study for tests. They don't have much free time on weekdays. They often do chores on weekends.

Young kids only do easy chores. So they don't get much money. But that's enough. Many of them only want to buy candy. And candy is cheap! They often help do the dishes, sweep the floor, or feed the pet cat or dog.

When they get older, they want to buy more and more things. They want things that are more expensive than candy. So they have to work harder! They often help their parents wash the family car, cut the grass, or cook meals.

Some jobs are a good way for kids to learn new things. For example, they can learn how to use a lawn mower or how to cook. Of course, their parents help them at first.

- ()67. How do many children get pocket money in some Western countries?
A. They study hard. B. They do chores
C. They do part-time jobs. D. They go to school.
- ()68. When do many children usually begin to do chores in some Western countries?
A. At the age of 10. B. At the age of 13.

Mr. Black works in an office. Usually he gets to work on time. One day, when he has lunch, a friend comes to visit him. They are very happy and talk a lot. Then they look at the clock on the wall. It is time to go to office. He has to say goodbye to his friend and leaves. It is raining hard and the streets are wet. He drives so fast, and so he can't see the red lights. And he can't stop his car and hits a car in front of his. An old man gets off and calls out angrily, "What are you doing? Do you want to kill me?"

"I'm sorry, sir," says Mr. Black. "I don't find the lights turn red." Then he brings out a bottle of wine and gives it to the old man.

"It's very cold today, sir," says Mr. Black. "Please drink a little, then you'll be warmer." The old man drinks some wine and becomes happy. "I'm feeling much better now. Why don't you drink any?" he asks.

"I can't drink anything now, sir," answers Mr. Black. I'm waiting for (等候) the policeman to come. Only drunkards (酒鬼) make accidents (车祸), you know!"

Do you often help the people who are in need? One day, two boys were walking along the road to school when they saw an old woman carrying a large basket of pears. The old woman looked very tired. They went up and said, "Are you going to town? If you are, we'll help you carry your basket."

"Thank you," said the woman. "That's very kind of you." Then she told them that she was going to the market to sell the pears. So the boys decided to lift the basket together. They walked slowly with the heavy basket, but they were happy.

The other day, I saw a little girl pick up a piece of banana peel(水果皮). She threw it into the dustbin(垃圾箱). "I hope nobody would throw that on the street," she said.

“Someone may slip(滑倒) and fall.”

Perhaps some people may say that these are not great things. That's right. But almost all great things are made up of such small things. We shouldn't wait for the time to do great things. We should begin with these things that are full of love.
