When I was 10, my mum said to me, "Listen, Frank. I think you should learn the piano. You will become a great piano player-famous, popular, and have a lot of fans."

That 41 nice. But for me, the problem was that I didn't want to play the piano. It just didn't sound like a "man" thing to do. I couldn't say no to my mum's offer because I wouldn't hear the end of it from her if I did. And I couldn't say yes 44 it would be a disaster(不幸) for me if my friends found out.

Several weeks later, I decided to take piano lessons anyway, but I kept it a 45 from all my friends. Every Saturday at five o'clock, I told them I had to go home and "wash my dad's car". I was 46 that they might ask me questions. Luckily, they never did.

Two weeks ago I was with my friend Tony at his birthday party. We had cake, played games, and 47 a movie. One thing led to another(自然而然), and I sat myself down at Tony's piano and played Happy Birthday for 48. Tony's jaw dropped(Tony 目瞪口呆)! Then, everybody came to the piano and began to listen to my 49. They had a good time. As for me, the piano didn't make me less of a man(少男子气概)—— it made me feel like a 50 !

One possible version :

Hello, everyone. I'd like to share with you my experience of growing flowers.

In the middle of September last year, I planted the seeds of cyclamen with the help of my mother. I looked after them carefully. I watered them every two days. I watched them grow day by day and felt very pleased. About a month ago, some of them blossomed ! They looked so beautiful. I took some photos of the flowers and showed them to my friends.

Through the experience, I learned that growing flowers is never easy. It needs a lot of hard work. However, I got happiness from it and I also grew up a lot.

That's all. Thanks for listening.
