(A)

Do you think breakfast important? Last week, several students from Xingfu Middle School made a survey among 500 people on the streets. The diagrams below show the results.

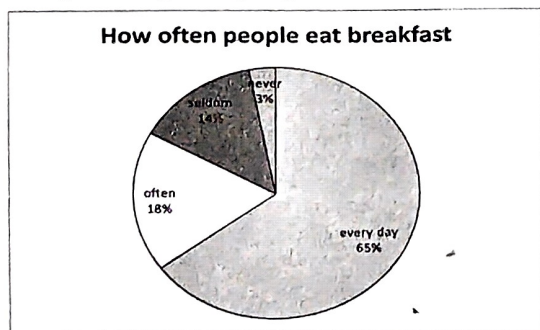

Diagram I

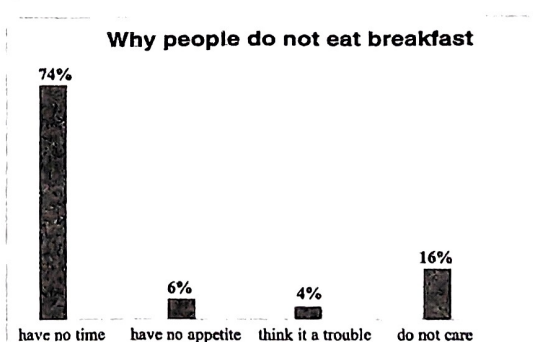

Diagram II

It is good to see 65 percent of the people eat breakfast every day. However, some people seldom eat breakfast or don't eat breakfast at all. People who don't eat breakfast have different reasons. Most are too busy to have breakfast. 6 percent have no appetite(胃口). And a very small number of people think that eating breakfast is a trouble. They would rather sleep a little longer or relax than rise early to make breakfast. 16 percent don't care. They have no reason for not eating breakfast.

Studies show that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. It enables us to study and work better, giving us a fresh start. It is believed that the best time for breakfast is between 7 a.m. and 8 a.m. There should be an interval(间隔) of 4 to 5 hours between breakfast and lunch. Before breakfast, we'd better drink some water. As you can know, our body loses much water after a whole night.

(B)

I have a special place in my heart for libraries. I have for as long as I can remember. I was always interested in reading as a child. Stories were like air to me and while other kids played ball games or went to parties, I lived out adventures(冒险) through the books I borrowed from the library.

My first job was working at a library when I was 16 years old. It was a dream job and I did everything from putting books on shelves to reading to the children for story time.

As I became a mother, the library took on an added meaning in my life. I had several children and books brought us much joy. It was an important thing for us to go to the library, where my kids could pick out books to read or books they wanted me to read to them. I always read, using different voices and they loved it! It was a special time to be with my children and it filled them with the wonderment of books.

Now I see my children taking their children to the library and I love it that the excitement of going to the library lives on from generation (一代) to generation.

I see libraries as a safe haven(避风港) for readers, a bridge that helps put together a reader with a book.

根据短文内容，选择最佳选项。(5分)

(C)

Before you make friends, you have to decide who you want to be your friends. Most people like to have friends who like to do the same kind of things they do.

The quickest way to make a friend is to smile. When you smile, people think you are friendly and easy to talk to. It may be easy at first to smile, but remember most people will stay away from a scared or angry looking face.

One easy way to start a conversation with someone is to say something nice about him. Think about how great you feel when someone says something nice to you. Doesn't it make you want to keep talking to that person?

Ask your new friends questions about themselves. "Who's their favorite singer?", "Where do they live?", and "What do they do after school?" are all good questions to start a conversation. Make sure you have something to add to the conversation, too. When someone asks you a question, do have an answer for it. There is nothing that will stop a conversation quicker than making no answer.

Kids who show an interest in other kids and who are kind and friendly make good friends. Remember, everyone wants to be around people who like to do similar things and people who are nice to them.

根据短文内容，判断下列句子正(T)、误(F)。(5分)

71. The passage mainly gives us some advice on how to start a conversation.
72. Most people like to make friends with those who share the same interest.
73. People usually want to keep talking to someone who says nice things to them.
74. When you are asked, making no answer is the quickest way to keep a conversation going.
75. If kids want to make friends, they should like knowing other kids and be kind and friendly.

(D)

We reach our goals(目标) one step at a time, doing a little each day. So, starting your day on the right foot is most important. 76

Get up an hour early.

People who get up early in the morning have a jump on the day. 77 As the saying goes, "The early bird gets the worm." It means that people who get up early have a head start and are more likely(可能的) to succeed.

Don't look through WeChat Moments(微信朋友圈) as soon as you get up.

We've all done it. You see a WeChat post from a friend you haven't seen for a long time. He is angry about something and the heated discussion pulls you in. 78 You hurry out of the door so as not to be late for work. This is not the best way to start your day.

Exercise!

It is a good idea to exercise in the morning because the middle of the day is a busy time for most people. 79 Exercising in the morning stops that from happening.

Think about your day at night.

Take time at the end of the day to think back on all the things that have happened. 80 It may help you get ready if you take a few minutes to think about what you need to do the next day.

阅读短文，把 A~E 五个句子填入文中空缺处，使短文内容完整。(5 分)

- A. They find more time to study or work.
- B. And spend a little time about tomorrow.
- C. An hour has passed before you know it.
- D. Here are four ideas on how to start your day off right.
- E. By the day's end, you may not have the time or energy(精力) to exercise.

(E)

A singer once went to a master(大师). He wanted to be better at singing than others. He sat in front of the master and started telling him why he visited. The master listened quietly to the singer.

The master then told the singer to go to the garden behind his house. There a rose plant and a tall tree were growing side by side. He told the singer, "They are your teachers. They can teach you what you want to learn."

The singer went into the garden, and saw the two plants. He thought hard but could not understand what he could learn from them. He had to go back to the master and asked, "What do you mean, master? I am not able to understand what and how these plants will teach me."

The master himself took the singer to the plants and explained, "This tree has been next to the rose plant for ten years. Never once has it wanted to become a rose plant. Similarly, the rose plant has never wanted to become a tree. If man were the tree, he would compare himself with the rose and feel jealous(嫉妒的) at its beauty. Or, if man were the rose plant, he would feel jealous at its height! Both of the plants grew very well because they used all their energy to grow instead of using it to beat the other."

Hearing that, the singer was lost in thought.

根据短文内容，回答下列问题。(10 分)

81. What did the singer want?

82. Where was the garden?

83. Who could teach the singer according to the master?

84. How long had the tree been next to the rose plant?

85. Why did both of the plants grow well according to the master?
